Big talent for *Big Fish

Huntington – With an incredibly talented cast and crew, this year’s high school play is one you won’t want to miss. From countless hours of hard work and dedication blossoms a world full of daffodils in a musical with a beautifully constructed soundtrack and capturing storyline.

On May 10 and 11, at 6:00 p.m., the Gateway High School will be performing their production of Big Fish the Musical, directed by Heather Dekaraki. Teachers Brianna Martins and Cheryl Wright have also worked hard to help with sets and tech, costumes are by Gail LaBrecque and musical direction is by Jerilyn Beauregard. The show’s cast stars Parker Atkin, Caden Boeri, Jonathan D’Amours, Autumn Marchetto, and Meg Rock. Other cast members include Robert Austin, Nathan Crane, Brian Forgue, John Gaj, Kaylee Hayes, Charlotte Kazalski, Dominic Nazarro, Maria Pless, and Jasyka Santiago.

The plot revolves around Edward Bloom, a dying man with wild, fantasy-like stories he’s claimed to endure in his past, and his engaged son Will, who doesn’t believe his father’s stories and just wants to know his actual life. The storyline switches from past to present, showcasing how young Edward falls love, meeting creatures along the way like a giant, a witch, and a werewolf--then how present-day Edward struggles with his relationship with his son.

Curtain rises at 6 p.m. and admission will be $7 for adults and $5 for students/Sr. citizens.
