Gateway P351 ambassadors launch first service project

Huntington – Gateway's ambassadors to Project 351—named for the 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts—are taking part in a statewide service project and need your help. The students are collecting new and gently used clothing for Cradles to Crayons, a charity located in Boston that will sort items and send them back for distribution throughout the state.

Now through April 5, items may be dropped off in the main entrance of any Gateway school. Needed are new or gently used youth clothing (youth sizes 0 – 12 and adult sizes small and medium), any kind of shoes (child sizes 0-13, adult sizes 1-10), and new socks and pajamas.

Joining Gateway's 2019 Project 351 Ambassadors—Liam Bowler (Huntington), Natalie Brown (Montgomery), Jordyn DuBour (Russell), Nevaeh Judson (Chester), Olivia Kanner (Blandford) and Carson Savery (Middlefield)—in this project are Katrina Nakaya (Project 351 alumna from 2018) and Victoria Kot and Sierra Russell (Project 351 alumnae from 2017). Their advisor is teacher Hannah Sullivan.
